The cattle department has been the centre of interest to-day, as the awarding of premiums has been going on. The quality of the cattle shown this year is of a superior order, and competition in many classes is close. So good a judge as Professor I. P. Roberts, of Cornell, had to ask for counsel on an exhibit of four Aberdeen-Angus heifers, and Judge George Bissell, of Milford, was sent to his relief. These black cattle were as near alike as four black peas. There are some heavyweights here in cattle. It takes a solid animal to weigh a ton, but there are everal that heat that fagure. Asron Barber, of several that beat that figure. Aaron Barber, of Avon, shows a roan Shorthorn a little over three years old that weighs 2,500 pounds, and Thomas Boak & Son, of Gerry, show one in the same class that turns the scales at 2,800 pounds. Mr. M. Kent's Ludolph is a 2,500-pounder. It is doubtful if a finer herd of Guernseys were ever doubtful if a finer herd of Guernseys were con-shown here than the fifteen head owned by G. Howard Davison, of Milibrook. This herd is headed by the champion Guernsey bull of the world, his latest honors being won at the World's Fair. He is Lord Stranford, 2,187, and is valued at $5,000. Purity, 2,315, is his mate in color, fawn and white. She was the winner of the thirty days' Guernsey test at the World's color, fawn and white. She was the winner of the thirty days' Guernsey test at the World's Fair, and has a milk record of 7.226 pounds 9 ounces in ten months, and a butter record of 470 pounds 11 the same time. Her average milk test is 6.5. Her value is $5.000. In Holstein-Frisians, D. F. Wilbur, of Oneonta, shows a 2.700-pound bull. Colaritha 2d, Sir Henry, 10.497, a first-prize winner at the World's Fair, and two others, with like honors. Smiths & and two others, with like honors. Smiths & Powell's exhibit of Hoisteins is also large, sev-eral cows with a butter record of 20 to 25 pounds a week being shown. The Dutch Belted stock is eral cows with a butter record of 20 to 2s pounds a week being shown. The Dutch Belted stock is represented by J A. Sanford's grand herd of Goshen. It is headed by a bull of massive structure, Honest Cleveland by name. The Jerseys, as usual, excel in numbers, and some as jerfect representatives of that pepular breed may here be seen as can anywhere be produced. The Herefords are a small class in number, George H. Holcomb, of Troy, Penn., being the only exhibitor. exhibitor.

an utter failure. That there should be but one entry in fat cattle, and that from another State, and only two entries of working oxen should be rather humiliating to the fair management. A little extra effort in attempting to fill these classes better next year would be appreciated. by those who go to the State Fair to see the stock.

The judges who pass upon the merits of the stock are mostly specialists in the breeds they are assigned to judge. They are as follows: H. Vanfresser, of Cobleskill—Holsteins. Devons, Dutch Belted and Brown Swiss; George N. Bissell, Milford—Shorthorns and beef breeds; Professor Roberts, Cornell University—Aberdeen, Arenus and Real Pulls, F. W. Sasulding, of Poults. To-morrow the awards on horses, sheep and swine will be completed, and besides the Governor's presence the races in the 2:24 and 2:45 classes and for foals of 1500 much.

WHILE HE IS PASTOR.

IS OPPOSED TO THE NORTHWARD MOVE-MENT AND HE DOES NOT EXPLOT THE CHURCH TO BE SOLD

In regard to the option which it is reported the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst is pastor, W. H. Ross said yesterday that at present the trustees were indisposed to sell the property. They have received from the insurance company many favors alle the big building at Twenty-third-st, and Madison-ave, has been building, and the relations between the two concerns are most friendly. There is no doubt that the insurance company desires the property now occupied by the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, and there is little doubt that the trustees would be willing to surrender it if they could find a suitable place for their house of worship not too remote from its present site.

Dr. Parkhurst said yesterday he did not expect that the church property would be sold or that the shurch would move uptown while he was the pastor of the congregation. The insurance company had wanted to buy the property as a site for another office building, he said, but the congregation was opposed to the uptown movement, and he could not consistently advocate a removal from the present site. It did not matter, he said, if the church edifice appeared to be dwarfed by the new office building at the other corner of the block, so long as the right kind of gospel was preached to the congrega-tion.

at the other corner of the block, so long as the right kind of gospel was preached to the congregation.

The Madison Square Presbyterian Church was organized in 1853 in response to a demand for an uptown church. The church building is one of the most imposing in the city. It is of brownstone and of Gothic architecture. Besides the auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 1,200, there are a large Sunday-school room and a lecture-room. It was in 1886 that Dr. Parkhurst accepted a call to the pastorate of the church. From the date of its establishment at Madison Square, the record of the church has been one of continued progress. It has a membership at the present time of about 860. Its good work has been developed in other portions of the city. At No. 2ll East Thirtieth-st, it has what is known as the Adams Memorial Church. This has gained almost independence from its mother, and the surplus resources of the parent have been later devoted to the maintenance of the mission and church house at Thirtieth-st, and Third-ave.

The trustices of the church at the present time are David S. Eggleston, William C. Sturges (treasurer), Arthur B. Graves, D. Willis James, Augustus D. Juillard, Ezra M. Kingsley, William H. Rose and Louis L. Stanton. The deacons are Charles H. Patterson, J. Adams Bishop and Talbot Olyphant, There is a kindergarten connected with the Madison Square Church House, also a kitchen garden and a boys' club.

RUSSIAN BARLEY AT NEW YORK.

Just at the close of the corn market yesterday considerable excitement was caused over the report that Russian barley was being offered freely at this city for feeding purposes. Partly on this report corn broke 2 cents a bushel in a few minutes. The report came from abroad and was received by several foreign houses. Paris cable dispatches de clared that a sale had been made of one cargo, 14,-000 quarters, or 112,000 bushels, of fair average quality Azov barley, c. i. f. New-York, September-Ocober shipment, at 12s 9d a quarter, which is figured at as being about 45 cents, duty paid. The present tuty is equal to 30 per cent, so that the price of the barley was certainly not very satisfactory to the Russian shippers.

Barley has been selling in London from the Azov for September-October shipment at 11s 3d to 11s 6d. The price at New-York was calculated at about 45 cents, and the price of ordinary Western is quoted at 48 cents delivered. Barley dealers demied, however, that any sales had been made, asserting that it was a report from abroad to affect the corn market.

Tests to determine the metacentric height or the stability of the reconstructed gunboat Machias were made with that vessel in the drydock of the Navy Yard yesterday. It was stated after the tests that her stability had been much improved by the addition of the midship section, and that the increase in length gives an increase in the sum of stabilities of the different sections. The reconstructed Machias is now 204 feet long on the load water line, is 1,220 tons (an increase of 170 tons) displacement, and her metacentric height has been increased from nine 'nohes to nineteen.

Pittsburg Leader" contains the following:

The elaborate series of canards which the Associated Press has been inflicting on the public for some time reaches a climax in the outrageous yarn printed yesterday in "The Dispatch," "Post" and "Gazette," of this city, relative to the alleged swallowing up of the village of Scotch Valley, near Hazelton, through "one of the most complete mine cavesins ever known in the region." The yarn was embellished with a variety of romantic details, including imprisoned miners, heroic rescuing parties, the consumption of "enguifed dwellings" by fire and other choice fruits of the author's imagination. The United Press promptly condemned the "fake," and, through "The Leader" and other newspapers enjoying the trustworthy service of that association, gave notice to the public that the affair was merely one more characteristic product of the association for the propagation of Murchausenism.

The growing frequency of such exploits on the Chausenism.

The growing frequency of such exploits on the part of the Chicago news-gathering organization prompts inquiry as to whether there ought not to be some remedy for systematic imposition on the public through the columns of professedly honorable newspapers. Exposure, unfortunately, seems to be insufficient as a deterrent.

Under the caption "Journalism Up to Date" "The Times" this morning says:

Since the old news-gathering association known as the Associated Press went to pieces, and a Chicago concern doing business under the same name succeeded to the remains of its business, new methods have been introduced which are the better of some explanation. The system is really very simple, You read blood-curdling sensations about trainloads of people killed, towns descroyed and steamers wrecked with all on board, and the next day you find the same trains ranning on schedule time, the same towns booming, and the same steamers breaking the ocean record. Thus the papers which still give space to the Associated Press stories furnish their readers all the sensations of a first-class horrior without actual loss of life or damage to rolling stock—two sensations, in fact; the story and the contradiction. Sometimes the wires get crossed, and the two items appear on the same day, but the managers of the sensation factory at Chicago are appealing for financial aid, and there is nope that this will be reformed by leasing a special wire for contradictions.

Yesterday, for instance. "The Despatch," "Commercial Gazette" and "Post" thrilled their readers with the wholesale destruction of a Pennsy vania mining town. The dimensions and character of the catastrophe are indicated by the following head-lines, which we berrow from "The Commercial Gazette," in which they appeared, four inches long:

This "By Associated Press" to "The Dispatch," "Post" and "Commercial-Gazette" was a first-class sensation until "The Chronicle-Telegraph," also "By Associated Press," printed the following particulars in the afternoon. They were as follows. "Hagleton, Penn, Sept. 7.—The story to the effect that the mining town of Scotch Valley had sunk out of sight is untrue. There is no Scotch Valley mine in this region."

The last sentence seems to corroborate the statement that the town is indeed out of sight. Only the day before, just to whet its appetite for the terrible disaster, the same concern burned the town of English Center, in Lycoming County, although there had been no fire in the neighborhood; and last week it ran the United States warship Monterey almost on a rock, saving her at the last moment by reversing the engines, although she was three miles away from the rock at the time, in 600 feet of water, and did not reverse engines during the whole voyage.

These are samples of the outrages which "The Associated Press" papers are committing upon the public under the pretence of giving the news. They show the reason why leading newspapers like The New-York Tribune, "Sun," "Heraid" and "Times" which were the mainstays of the association in the days of its respectability, have refused to take the dispatches of its Chicago namesake, and now belong to the vigorous and trustworthy United Press.

Buffalo, Sept. 7.—"The Enquirer" says to-day. "The Western Associated Press is sending out unrellable contactors and applies of the sending out unrellable contactors."

Western Associated Press is sending out unreliable news there days, and urging its members to contribute something to make good the deficiency. Western Association is getting wobbly. The

The next object was to determine at what distance, without the aid of the light, the torpedo-boat could be located by the noise of ter engines, etc. The observers first discerned a f. w sparks in the vicinity of Rose Island. Then more sparks were seen, and it did not take long to determine that they were from the Cushing's funnels. She was about 800 yards away when first sighted by the electric searchlights. Eight hundred yards is the maximum torpedo range, and a speedy craft would make great progress inside of this before guns could be trained upon her; so it is still questionable whether the searchlight is much of a safeguard against an attack from torpedo-boats.

A DELAY INEXPLICABLE TO THE DEPOSITORS

There is $600,000 on deposit in the Central Trust Nicholas Bank, and though it has been there for several months it cannot be paid out until the present receivership of the bank is made permanent. For some reason or other the Attorney-General will not apply to the courts to make Mr. Grant funct institution are forced to wait until he chooses to make some move. No one seems to be able to tell what is back of the position the Attorney-General has taken in the case of the St. Nicholas Bank. The only explanation so far given that seems at all satisfactory is that the former managers have made the Attorney-General believe that the bank never was insolvent. It seems hardly credible that any one should listen to such talk when the rottenness of the bank has been made public time and again. The decision in the case of the bill for $15,000 presented by John M. Howers, as counsel for the receiver of the bank, will probably be given to-day by the referee, Hamilton Odell.

DR. BALDWIN MAKES A CORRECTION.

The Rev. Dr. S. L. Baldwin, the recording secretary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, writes to The Tribune that the credit of preparing an interesting paper presenting in tabular form the practical provision made for missionaries in regard practical provision made for missionaries in regard to salaries, etc., does not belong to him, but to a layman of the Presbyterian Board, whose modesty would not approve of his mentioning his name. Dr. Habiwin also writes that the salary of married couples in India is 2.45 rupees, not dollars, a sum less than $500. The maximum salary, which is rarely paid, is $1,750. The average of the salaries paid by fourteeen different societies in that field is about $1,040.

LAST DAYS AT MANHATTAN BEACH.

Manhattan Beach will close one of its most successful seasons on Sunday night, when the last concert of the season will be given by Gilmore's Band. The Gilmore Band, under the leadership of Victor Herbert, has been giving concerts at the Week, and scored an undoubted success. Special programmes have been prepared for to-day and sunday. On these days the old Glimore favorites, Mme. Ida Klein, Signor Victor Codio and Edward O'Mahony will assist. The Oriental and Manhattan hotels will close their doors after breakfast Monday morning.

VITAL NEEDS FOR THE

COMING MUNICIPAL

CAMPAIGN.

The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst and his wife landed in this city yesterday from the White Star steamship Germanic, which left Liverpool on August 29. The vessel reached Quarantine late on Thursday night and lay in a dense fog until yesterday morning, when she was allowed to come up to her pier, arriving there at 10:30 o'clock. It was about noon when Dr. Parkhurs: reached his home at No. 133 East Thirty-fifth-st. He looked the better for his three months' trip abroad. His face had more color than it showed before he left the city in June, and he appeared to be somewhat stouter. He said his trip had improved his health, and he felt in good fighting trim. He and his wife had a cottage at Vevay, on Lake Geneva, in Switzerland, where they remained nearly all the time they were abroad. He found time for some mountain elimbing, however, and also travelled a little in England before going aboard the steamship at Liverpool. To a Tribune reporter, who found him at his home in the afternoon, Dr. Parkhurst said: "I am glad to get back and see my friends, the newspaper reporters. My acquaintance with newspaper men has been pleasant here, and I had many Clippings from the newspapers were sent to me by nearly every mail, and I was able to keep close track of matters which were transpiring in the city, particularly those matters in which I was interested. I came back a little sooner than usual this year, because I wanted to take some part in the fight against Tammany."

MORE REVELATIONS TO COME.

Dr. Parkhurst expressed pleasure with the work of the Lexow Committee, saying that the investi-gation had been well advanced before he left the about it before he went abroad. He said he expected more important revelations when the comnittee got to work again. Regarding the recent trials at the Central Office, he said:

"It is gratifying in a incasure to know that the Police Commissioners have made use of the evidence provided by the Lexow Committee, and have broken' four captains and a number of sergoants and ward men. They availed themselves of the testimony to such an extent as to show that the entire department was corrupt, from the top down, and the trials have helped to show to the public the exact condition of the department. That is more important because it also shows that the cor-Yet, with all of the faithful work performed by Assistant District-Attorneys Wellman and Osborne, which certainly merits praise, I cannot help feeling that the investigation by the Police Board was an unwarranted intrusion upon ground which had been pre-empted. The Commissioners had known all along about the corruption in the department, or they were wholly incompetent. We ad been making complaints about that corruption for many months. The Commissioners either in nored the complaints or threatened to throw them nto the wastebacket. They had the opportunity then to make an investigation. but that opportunity ceased when they refused to listen to the

The fact that one part of the department is on the bench and the other part is in the prisoners pen does no blind the eyes of the public to the fact that the whole department is corrupt. Every conviction by the Commissioners is only an additional indictment of themselves because they either knew the facts before or they were wholly incompetent."

What do you think of Commissioner Murray's before or they were wholly incompetent. "

What do you think of Commissioner Murray's resolution to abolish the ward men in the department?" Dr. Parkhurst was asked. "Moreover, there is an incongruity in the trials

AN APT MEDICAL METAPHOR.

"That may be a good measure, so far as it goes," he replied. "It appears to have been inspired by the evidence which was presented before the Senate Committee and afterward before the Commissioners the ward men. It has been shown that the ward men performed the dirty work for the captains. Now the captains may have to do their own dirty work. There was a time when the office of the ward man was of some benefit to the public, but for a long time the ward men have been the collectors for the captains, and lately when I have heard of a ward man, the name only meant the precinct collector. It is well enough to get rid of the ward men, but I think such changes should follow action by the Legislature upon the report of the Senate Committee. I went to Albany to oppose the bi-partisan police bill, on the ground that it was well to have a careful diagnosis before performing an operation on a sick man. The Police Department is very sick, but before any amputations are performed it would be well to have a thorough diagnosis, such as we are bound to have when the Senate Committee gets through with the investigation. Then let the amputations be made by the head surgeons at Albany. Perhaps the easiest operation would be to cut off the department's head. I don't mean Superintendent Byrnes. The changes in the police system should be thorough. I am opposed to patchwork in such cases."

PARTY MUST GO BY THE BOARD. Dr. Parkhurst evidently had kept himself well in formed about local political affairs, and he talked about them in a way that showed he had a deep interest in the coming fight against Tammany at the polls. He said:

polls. He said:

"It is gratifying to find combined opposition to Tammany rule in the city, but one of the greatest difficulties will be to secure concerted action among the forces pow opposed to Tammany. It would be easy to whip Tammany this fail if all who have a feeding of opposition to that corrupt organization could combine in the support of a candidate for Mayor. This is the time to sink all considerations beneath that for a clean administration of the city government. I was born a Republican in New-Engand, but in the local fight for good government I shall have no leaning toward either a Republican or a Democrat, as such. If we select a candidate for Mayor because he is a Republican, Tammany will whip us; and if we select a candidate because he is a Democrat, Tammany will whip us. We must have a man who does not run as a Republican, or as a Democrat, or as a I thion League candidate, or as a Good Government Club man. He must he a man whose character will stand for a clean administration, regardless of partisan fles.

"There can be an earnest effort and a combination of all of the forces onposed to Tammany in the support of such a candidate if we are willing to throw aside party considerations at this time. I pray God that we may continue to be chastened under Tammany rule until we are not yet ready to sink all partisan considerations at this time, I pray God that we may continue to be chastened under Tammany rule until we are willing. We do not want a hybrid government, half-good and half-bad. There is one thing about Tammany that we can be sure of; It is always bad. I don't want to have a Mayor who has just a taint of decency. Let us have a man who is good all the way through." "It is gratifying to find combined oppos

The Chicago man was telling the Englishman about this country, and particularly about the cities of New-York and Chicago. He told the Englishman that New-York was well enough as a city, but being built on an island it did not have a chance to grow like Chicago, and, being under the absolute rule of Tammany, it had no public spirit like that which had made the Western city a second London. New-York was to Chicago as Liverpool was to London, the Chicago man said.

"Just think," said Dr. Parkhurst, "what an effect the defeat of Tammany here would have on the whole country. Think of the prestige of New-York

"The feeling in this city is far different from that which is observed in a smaller place." Dr. Parkhurst said. "Here many appear to feel that the city belongs to a party or to the officials in power. Men who take the most pride in the city fail to exert any influence upon the city government, while the spoilsmen have their own way in everything. It would be different if the men of wealth and position in the city would do more work before election and indulge in less grumbling after election. I believe in being prepared for this life as well as for the life to come. We oushit to look more carefully after the interests of the city in which we live. I long for a time when there will be more civic pride. Why not make the city cienn, just as we want to have our homes clean? We should want that for our own comfort, if for no other reason."

Senator Lexow said that he and Mr. Martin had not discussed the report which Superintendent Byrnes had sent to the Commissioners on Thursday. He also declined to express his own views on the report He said he expected that there would be some important testimony before the commistioner Martin said at the Central Office late in the afternoon that, while there would be no decision by the Police Hoard as to continuing the trials until an opinion had been received from the committee, he personally thought that the trials would be postponed until the committee had ended the investigation of the department. Mr. Martin declined to talk about the report by Superintendent Byrnes. What he had to say on that subject, he declared, would be said at an open meeting of the Police Board. Commissioner Morray made the same statement. Commissioner Sheehan and Kerwin also declined to express their views as to Mr. Hyrnes's report.

Other officials at the Central Office appeared to think that the report was in effect a declaration of war by the Superintendent, and that the Commissioners were not likely to adopt his recomminendations. It was rather to be expected, they said, that the Leghslature might take some action based on the statements made by the Superintendent, and that the Commissioners were not likely to adopt his recomminendations. eystem controlling the Reformatory was due to Mr.

Brockway, as well as the system of trade schools, which now number thirty four. Dr. Wey painted cut the fact that when a man in the Reformatory had learned a trade a position was secured for him on his release, so that he could work at the trade which he had been taught under duress; and he also insisted that every man who was compelled to learn a trade was assigned to that to which he was best fitted physically and mentally.

Dr. Wey was inclined to the belief that the system of "paddling" was preferable to locking men in their cells, the general effect of which he thought was bad. The witness also, in reply to questions by Lt. Dr. Flint, expressed the opinion that the religious opportunities afforded to inmates were sufficient.

Under cross-examination Judge Learned pressed the witness hard in regard to the commitment of an inmate from the Reformatory to the Middletown Asylum, Judge Leonard endeavored to show that Dr. Wey must have been cognizant of the condition of one of the inmates, whom he afterward certified as insane for transfer to Matteawan, for a period of several months prior to such transfer. But Dr. Wey insisted that there was nothing in the form of insanity apparent in the patient, except excessive irritability, until within five days of the issue of the certificate.

The examination will be continued to-day.

FROST FISH IN INLAND LAKES. The following is a copy of a resolution passed by the Commissioners of Fisheries at a meeting held the Commissioners of Fisheries at a meeting held Tuceday, August 14, 184:

Resolved, That frost fish may be taken in any of the inland lakes between the 1st day of November and the 1st day of December in the same year with selnes and dip-nets between the hours of sunrise and sunset. Persons desiring to take frost fish by seines or dip-nets must notify the Commissioners of Fisheries at their office, No. 53 Broadway, of their linentions so to do on or before the 1st day of November in each year, and no person except such as shall have notified the Commissioners of Fisheries of their intention so to fish shall have the logal right so to do. All lake trout, brook trout, brown trout, California trout or other game fish taken while fishing for frost fish must be returned to the water at once without unnecessary injury.

A list of the persons who shall have applied for

A list of the persons who shall have applied for such permission will be filed in the office of the chief game and fish protector, Albany, and any persons who may fish without having notified the Commissioners of Fisheries of their intention so to do will be arrested and prosecuted.

A SAD MIX-UP AT THE WINDSOR HAR.

The handsome barroom of the Windsor Hotel was for a short time on Thursday night made to look like a shambles. Shambles are places, where blood flows, and blood flowed in the Windsor barroom. One of the barkecpers was taking heavily charged sodawater bottles from a crate and putting them on ice. One of them came near performing a similar kindly One of them came near performing a similar kindly office for the barkeeper. It, to use the language of the dispenser of drinks, "bust." This is as much of the language he used yesterday in telling a Tribune reporter about the explosion of the bottle as can be printed. A had cut, a black eye, profamity and a doctor were all intermingled, and the barkeeper was finally restored to his normal state of health. When seen yesterday he was still making the recording angel wish that he (the angel) understood how to write shorthand.

COST OF LIVING SOMEWHAT HIGHER-A SCARCITY OF LOBSTERS-THE GAME SUPPLY.

The transition from summer to fall has a marked effect on the retail prices of provisions as well as on the quality and variety of produce sold in the markets. There is much more to buy and many more people to buy it, as returning householders reach town after spending the summer elsewhere. One of the features of the market just now is the high price of lobsters. Large live lobsters sell for 18 cests a pound, and even small, undersized ones bring 15 cents. This is a higher price than lobsters have sold at for ten years, and is due to the constantly decreasing supply and the as constant increasing de European shores. Among the passengers sailing mand. MR. BICKLEY AND HIS WHITE "PANTA"

HIS FELLOW-MEMBERS ON THE STOCK EX CHANGE MAKE A VIOLENT ATTEMPT TO PUT A PAIR OF REGULATION DUCK TROUSERS OVER THEM

Lawrence W. Bickley is a member of the New York Stock Exchange. He is known on the floor as a man with various ideas on the subject of dress, and his notions of what a man ought to wear are said to be strange and curious. For the last few weeks he has appeared in a pair of white duck "pants." His fellow-members on the Exchange call them pants, not trousers-probably because they are so short. A man in white duck trousers which reach a point on his legs somewhere between the knee and the ankle is not considered in when a member persists in wearing such unsightly togs something is apt to happen.

togs something is apt to happen. Yesterday Mr. Bickley appeared on the floor as usual in his white high-water "pants," and almost as soon as he was seen a few brokers made an active canvass of the members, and secured enough money to buy a pair of regulation white trousers. A messenger went and bought them, and then a self-appointed committee of ten or twelve approached Mr. Bickley and tried to persuade him to remove his "pants" and put on the trousers. He refused.

The committee then feeling that the honor of the Exchange as a place for well-dressed mer was at stake, and, remembering how they recently threw into the street a member who appeared on the floor in his whirt sleeves, made for Mr. Bickley, and tried to put the trousers on him right over the "pants." They were about to succeed, and had one leg all right, when the chairman of the Exchange saw the commotion, and called a halt, thus saving Mr. Bickley, who then made his escape. Several brokers were fined for the disorder. The trousers were sent by messenger to Mr. Bickley's office, with a note begging him to wear them in place of his begging him to wear them in place of his

A CLEAR SKY AFTER THE FOG.

FERRYBOATS BUMPED TOGETHER IN THE MIST, BUT NO ONE WAS INJURED-NO RAIN IN SIGHT.

The heavy fog which hung over the rivers and the bays about New-York caused two collisions yester-day morning among the fleet of ferryboats. Fortunately, no one was hurt, and the damage caused was slight. At 6:30 o'clock the ferryboats Whitehall and Pierrepont, of the Hamilton-ave, ferry, came in collision at the Brooklyn slip, and about time the Staten Island ferryboat Robert Garrett ran into a schooner which had anchored off Governor's the Pennsylvania Railroad for Gettysburg, where they go to consecrate the memorial raised by them upon the battlefield. The Rev. Dr. Smith author of the patriotic hymn. "America," has contributed an original hymn for the services, which will take place at 10 a. m. to-morrow. General A. P. Martin, Folice Commissioner of Boston, General Luther Stephenson, governor of the Togus Home for D. A. S. Maine: Adjutant-General Kingsbury, of Newlon, Dr. Z. B. Adams, medical examiner, of the Framingham district; Major E. F. Phinney and about fifty more veterans are with the party.
